Brief

Virgin Money acquired the prestigious office space located at St Andrew Square in 2011. These offices were earmarked for their new headquarters and the requirement was to supply bench desking which blended well with the modern, unique surroundings.

Solution and Outcome

We supplied a number of Soho benches in white, these were custom-made with flip and reveal power modules, allowing the desk space to remain tidy when not in use. The space had been designed with a strong colour scheme, so the white desking complemented the red and black well and the overall finish was both contemporary and practical.
